Let's start with the ultimate biological approach to crime reduction

The Death Penalty

Let's have a discussion BEFORE you learn the facts.....

Do you think the threat of the death penalty would reduce the murder rate in the UK today?

1. The government has a responsibility to reduce criminal acts such as murder True/False?
2. *What is the purpose of using the death penalty
(Write points on your white boards)*
 - No, because ...(bullet point your reasons)
 - Yes, because.... (bullet point your reasons)
 - (If you are undecided put both down)

Do you think the threat of the death penalty would reduce the murder rate in the UK today?

- No, because.....

- Yes, because.....

Now for some statistics.....

- Criminologists don't just debate questions as we have done, they look for evidence, both for and against.
- Let's look at which countries still have the death penalty.
- Criminologists have carried out studies in these countries to see if the death penalty works. Let's see what they think after exploring these studies.

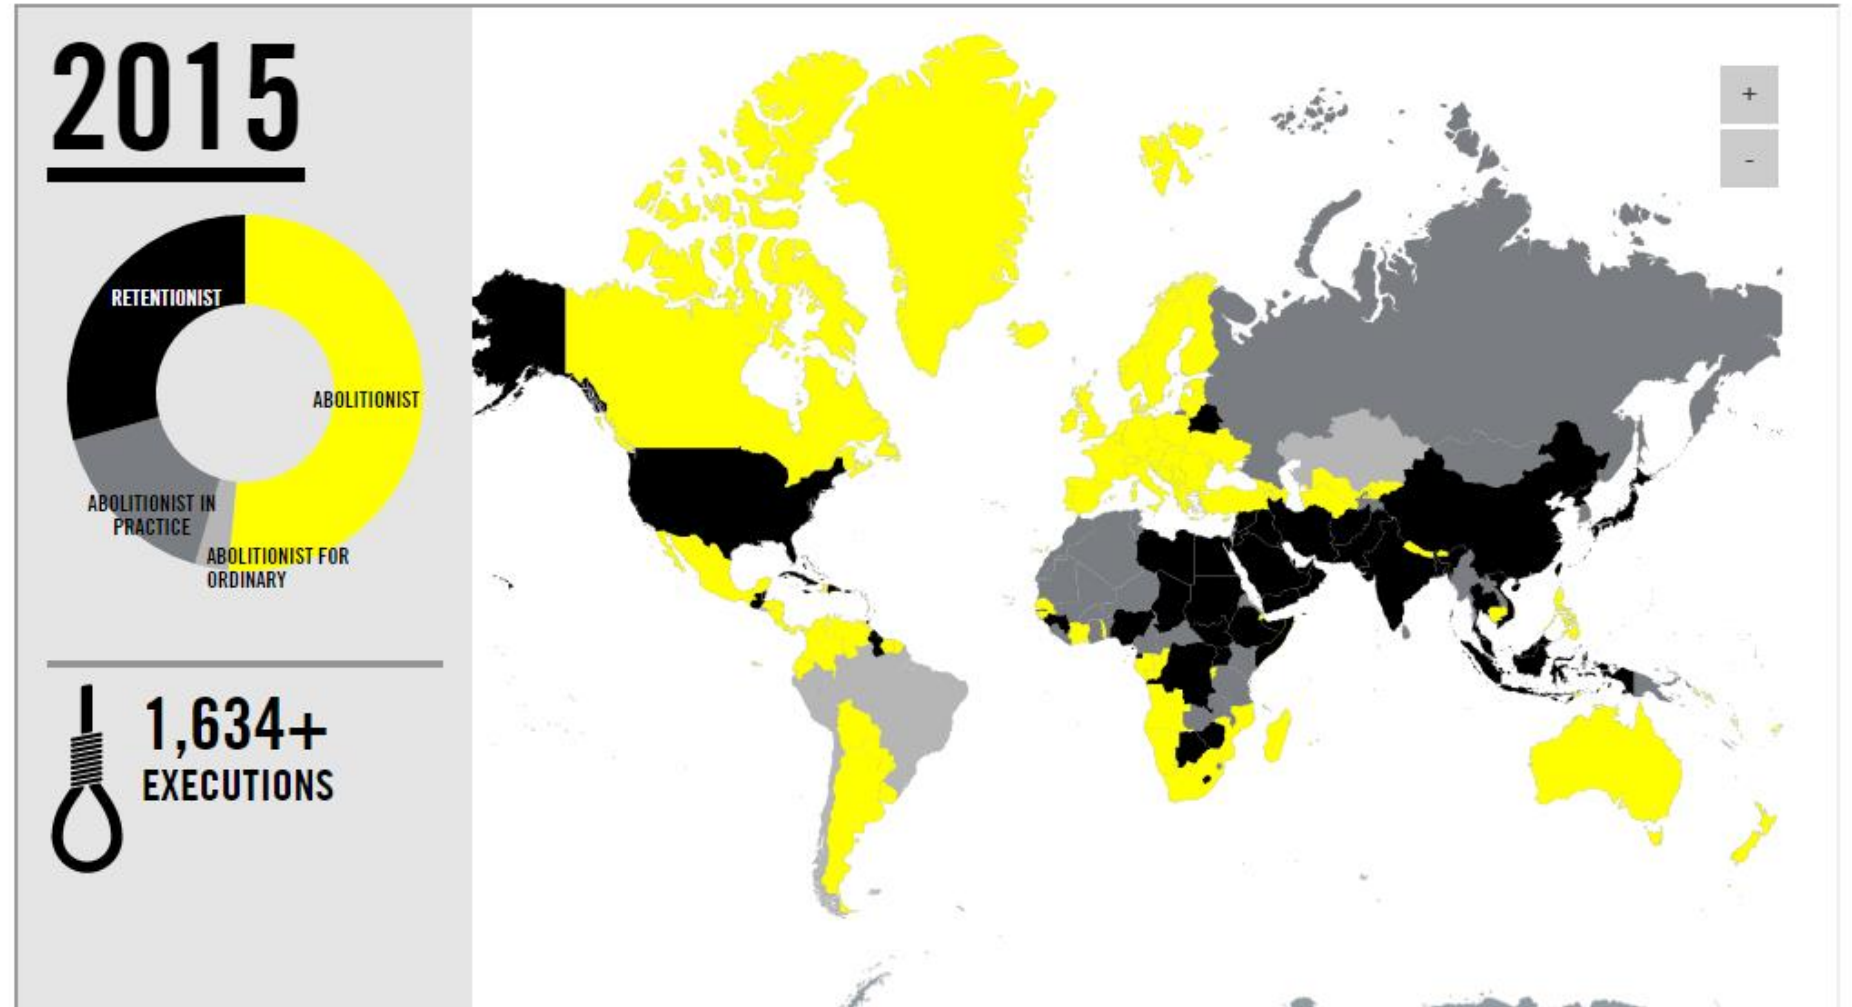

Retentionist – 58 countries retain the death penalty in law

Abolitionist in practice – 32 countries retain the law but haven't executed in over 10 years

Abolitionist – 102 countries do not use the death penalty

Abolitionist for ordinary – 6 countries retain it only for the most serious of crime

Death sentences and executions 2015

Top Ten countries for using death penalty (out of the 55 still using it)

- China — 1000+
- Iran — 314+
- Egypt — 83+
- Saudi Arabia — 65
- Syria — 24+
- Somalia — 21+
- Iraq — 17+
- Yemen — 14+
- United States — 11
- South Sudan — 9+

China

- Capital punishment in China is a legal penalty.^[1] It is commonly applied for murder and drug trafficking,^[2] although it is also a legal penalty for various other offenses. Executions are carried out by lethal injection or by shooting. The majority of Chinese people support capital punishment.^[6]
- The use of capital punishment is active in most East Asian countries and territories, including Japan, North Korea, Malaysia, Thailand, Indonesia, Vietnam, Singapore, and Taiwan. According to Amnesty International, China executes more people than all other countries combined.
- The exact numbers of executions and death sentences are considered a state secret by China, and are not publicly available.^[11] According to the Dui Hua Foundation, a U.S.-based organization, the estimated number of executions has declined steadily in the twenty-first century, from 12,000 each year to 2,400.^[12] Although in 2022, World Coalition Against the Death Penalty announced that since 2007, at least 8,000 people were executed in China per year.^[13]
- The Chinese government has taken effective measures in order to limit use of the death penalty, proclaiming that it is doing this with the aim of completely abolishing it.^[14]

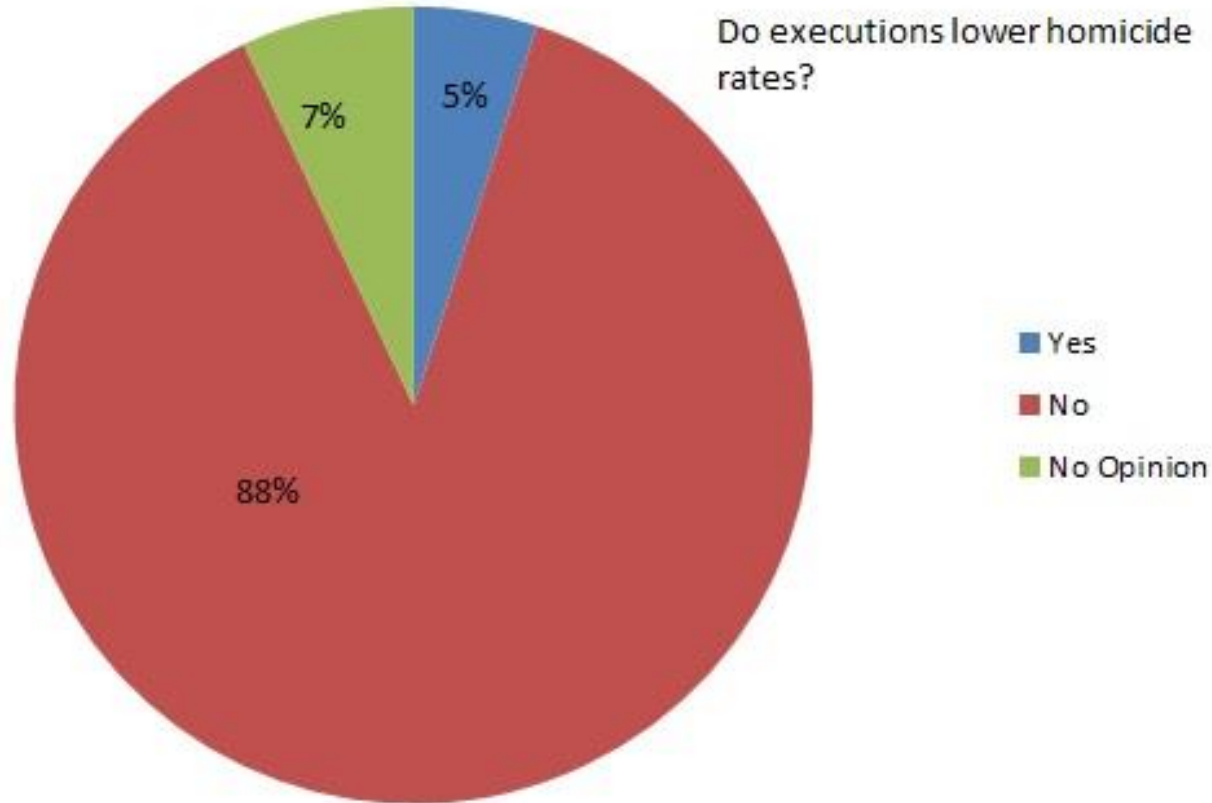

Death penalty – methods

- Beheading
- Electrocutation
- Hanging
- Lethal injection
- Shooting in the back of the head and by firing squad

Most research shows that the death penalty does not act as a deterrent

Short Exam questions:

(You will have 5 minutes to answer these)

- 1) Write down 5 methods used to execute criminals (5 marks)
- 2) What % of criminologists think the death penalty does not reduce homicide rates? (1 mark)
- 3) Which country keeps its data on executions secret? (1)
- 4) Is this country abolitionist or retentionist? (1)

Debate: Should we bring back the death penalty?

Let's look at the case for and against. We'll use some real life stories as well.

Before we start, how many of you are in favour of the death penalty? For? Against? Undecided? What are your reasons?

Fill in the table:

At the end of the lesson I'll ask you again to see if anybody has changed his/her mind.

Assuming it did reduce murders, would it be a good policy when other factors are considered?

Draw up a table, in pairs, for the pros and cons of capital punishment

Pros

Cons

Pros	Cons
Gives closure to the victims' families The ultimate deterrent 'Eye for an eye' –retribution may satisfy angry society . Forensics are now much more advanced so wrongful execution is avoided If a prisoner is not euthanised they could escape prison and go on to kill again It alleviates the problem of prison overcrowding	Financial costs to taxpayers of capital punishment is several times that of keeping someone in prison for life. The endless appeals clog up the CJS 'Eye for an eye' policies don't show that society has advanced It is traumatic for the family as well as the defendant It is traumatic for the doctors who are breaking their oaths Mentally ill inmates may be put to death Children may be put to death Counterproductive – it creates sympathy for perpetrators of heinous crimes It doesn't bring the victim back to life What if the decision is wrong?

Writing task

- You will now watch 2 videos which will give you real life examples .
- Please take notes, WITH EXAMPLES
- Afterwards we will use this information in an exam question

Case histories are an excellent way of understanding a viewpoint...

AGAINST: My father, mental illness and the death penalty

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gMNIROvT5x4>
- What is the point being made here?

One factor not often considered is shown in the following video.

Video:

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=b6M-1LbQ5-c>
- What do you think this factor is?
- Is this a good reason not to execute?

A long exam question: you will have 15 minutes to answer this.

5) You work for Amnesty International and have been asked to write a letter to the Government of Iran to ask them to ban the death penalty.

Write the letter, presenting up to 10 arguments. To make the letter effective use real life examples where you can (15)

- Use paragraphs
- Aim to write between 200-400 words, according to your ability
- Write legibly

Some more real life cases...

- Singapore death penalty cases
